We became friends from the first time we met. She always put a smile on my face. I will miss her but will always remember the talks we would have. She was a bright light and will be forever missed.*

The angels of the Lord are awaiting the arrival of this precious saint and soldier of the cross with their arms stretched out opened wide to welcome her home.

We are praying that God will give you strength and courage as you and your family go through this challenging time. Take it one day at a time and know that Jesus is a burden bearer. So, continue looking to the hills from which comes your help because all our help comes from the Lord.
